EDITORIAL FLINGS

The most serious matter in life is that big important thing of never letting your heart shrivel up like a red flannel shirt until it is so small you can't see it, or feel it, or find it.

Looking over some of the middle-aged Paris flappers with tinted hair and youthful air, we recall the courageous words that may be adapted to: "The old guard dyes, but never surrenders."

Shall skirts be short?
Shall skirts be flowing?
Designers snort
In accents knowing.
And while the trade
Disputes and bickers
The modern maid
Appears in knickers.

H. G. Wells says the gorilla and man may have had a common ancestor. Perhaps, but as soon as man gets up in the world he is prepared, with documentary evidence, to show that none of his ancestors was common, to say nothing of his being a kinsman of the gorilla.

Norman Hapgood says that Henry Ford has the mind of a child. Possibly that is why he's a multimillionaire toymaker, while Norman, who has the mind of a man, is only a moderately well-to-do informer of the world and abater of abuses, local, national and international.

A newspaper doctor says one is always in danger of infection if he sits nearer than five feet to the person he is conversing with, and the mystery is how do the attractive young members of the porch swing crowd manage to keep so well, considering the chances we understand they take?

"The defendant admitted that he had been drinking, but denied that he was drunk," after driving an automobile without tires and alleged defective steering gear. When a man has drunk enough to enjoy driving a machine without tires and with defective steering gear, is he "drunk" or "drinking."

Paris people going away from home for the summer, closing up their houses, should notify the police. In some towns you are required to sign a card, and then once in twenty-four hours, or sometimes oftener, your doors will be tried and your property inspected to see that nothing has been disturbed.

State Examiner and Inspector Hines is right, no doubt, in condemning as unsafe for inmates of the Confederate Home at Pewee Valley a road on which "automobiles are constantly passing." But what road or street is safe anywhere for even the young and agile when murder done by drunken drivers and by road hogs not intoxicated is so rarely punished?

The postoffice department sometimes complains of the difficulty they have in deciphering addresses on mail matter. Yet, it is sometimes the other way. Very often THE NEWS gets notices from the postoffice, giving changes of subscribers' addresses, written so illegibly we cannot make them out. Why not encourage a little care in the post-office?

We now know that Paris has about the laziest man in the world. As we were passing the Reo Comfort Bus Line waiting station at the corner of Main and Third streets, the other day we noted a well-dressed fellow leaning carelessly against the doorway. In one hand he had a bunch of peanuts and a nutcracker in the other, which he was using in a lazy manner to crack the nuts. How's that for labor-saving?

The matron of a certain Kentucky hospital (not Paris) reports that discipline is difficult to enforce in such institutions, for the nurses, especially the younger ones, often refuse to be corrected, take offense at trifles and leave if those in authority resent their irritation. The best sort of girl, the matron finds, is the one who has been trained to play games, has had some kind of drilling, and knows what team play means.

What is one man's holiday is another man's penance. A man who likes the sort of entertainment offered at summer resorts might not get much enjoyment from "roughing it" in the woods. For a little while each year it is well for each member of the family to "have his rather." If husband and wife do not want the same kind of holiday, there is no reason why they should take their holiday together.

It happened at a recent dance in Paris. The dance room was not crowded, and there was plenty of room for the dancers to gyrate in. Somebody had accidentally dropped a small quantity of cornmeal on the floor. Over in one corner of the room stood a couple who had just retired from active exercise on the floor. The girl observed the cornmeal. "I wonder," she said, "why they put cornmeal on the floor when they dance?" Her companion reflected a moment, and then a bright idea struck him. "Oh, that's to make the 'chickens' feel at home."

SALE OF BURLEY ASSOCIATION STOCK PROGRESSING

Sales of the preferred stock of the warehousing corporations of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association for the central warehousing district, in the hands of the Security Trust Company, at Lexington, are progressing nicely. Charles N. Manning, president of the Trust Company, said, but growers will have opportunity to subscribe for the issue up to and including June 15. This preferred stock is being issued to realize the cash necessary to swing the taking over of the warehouses, some of the warehouses having chosen one of the options requiring part payment in cash, though many have accepted the preferred stock and bonds in lieu of cash for the entire amount due them.

James C. Wilson & Company, of Louisville are the fiscal agents for preferred stock of the other warehousing corporations and are handling an issue of $700,000.

Some of the members of the association have gotten these preferred stock issues confused with the common stock, which is issued only to growers. While the preferred stock is an investment stock, paying 6 per cent guaranteed dividend annually, it has, of course, no voting power, that being vested in the common stock, which may be held by growers only. The preferred stock may be held by growers or non-growers, but it is the desire of President Jas. C. Stone, Director of Warehouses Ralph M. Barker, and the other officers and directors of the association that as much of this preferred stock as possible be taken by members of the association, in order that none of it may fall into possible unfriendly hands.

Mephistopheles.

The name Mephistopheles, is from the Greek, and it means "He who loves not light." The name was given to a Satanic personage of the Middle Ages, who in the Faust legend is appointed to obey Faust's commands, according to the terms on which the latter has sold his soul to Satan.

SO NERVOUS SHE WOULD ALMOST SCREAM ALOUD

Mrs. Frush Gives a Strong Story of Her Sufferings—Declares that Tanlac Has Restored Her to Finest Health.

"Tanlac has proved to be the right medicine for me," said Mrs. Rae Frush, 326 Hamilton street, Toledo, Ohio.

"About two years ago my stomach began bothering me and I got so I could scarcely eat anything without suffering the worst kind of indigestion. I had a stuffed-up feeling and severe pains in my stomach and chest. I was so weak and nervous I couldn't even sweep a room without stopping to rest. The least noise, and sometimes the prattle of my baby, would get me so nervous I would almost scream out loud. Awful nausea and sick headache added to my troubles and I almost despaired of ever regaining my health.

"A nurse told me how fine Tanlac would be in my case and I tried it. I have been built up to where I can do all my housework, have a good appetite, my nerves are steady and in fact I enjoy the finest health. I am only too glad to tell others about this grand medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. (adv)

REBATING DENIED IN LIABILITY INSURANCE

Agents who write surety bonds and liability insurance are bound by the same laws and rules as those who write life and fire insurance and therefore cannot handle premiums in such a way as to constitute rebating, the Court of Appeals held at Frankfort in upholding the refusal of James E. Ramey, insurance commissioner of Kentucky, to grant a license to Dave Lyman, secretary of the Kentucky Association of highway contractors to write bonds and liability insurance.

The Court held that the plan Lyman proposed of turning in premiums to the organizations be used in paying his salary and office expense would constitute rebating. Lyman attacked the action of the commissioner on the ground that the rebating statutes did not include bonding and liability companies and that the plan he proposed was not rebating.

BOARD OF COUNCIL, By E. B. JANUARY, Chairman Improvement Committee.

AN ORDINANCE

An Ordinance Providing For the Original Construction of Main Street From Fourteenth Street to Twentieth Street With Vitrified Brick, Asphalt, Bithulithic Wood Blocks, Rock Asphalt, Concrete Paving or Other Type of Paved Streets and By the Construction of Curbs and Gutters on Both Sides Thereof Except Where the Same Is Already Constructed in Conformity With Specifications For the Proposed Work, and Providing For the Payment of the Cost Thereof.

BE IT ORDAINED, By the Mayor and the Board of Council of the City of Paris, Kentucky, in regular meeting assembled in the City Hall, in Paris, Kentucky, on Thursday night, the 25th day of May, 1922, that pursuant to resolution heretofore adopted by the Board of Council on April the 13, 1922, which resolution was published as required by law, the following described street in the City of Paris be improved by the original construction of the roadway thereof with vitrified brick, asphalt, bithulithic wood blocks, rock asphalt, concrete paving or other type of paved streets and by the construction of curbs and gutters on both sides thereof, except where the same is already constructed in conformity with the plans and specifications for the proposed work, namely: Main street from Fourteenth street to Twentieth street.

2. The said improvement shall be made according to plans and specifications to be adopted by the Board of Council in the City of Paris, Kentucky, and that a suitable and competent engineer be employed to prepare such plans and specifications.

3. That the cost of improving said roadway shall be paid as follows, to-wit: The abutting property owners on either side of said street shall pay one-third of the cost of said street and the cost of all curbing and guttering in front of their respective lots. The Kentucky Traction and Terminal Company shall pay the expense of paving between the rails of their tracks and a distance of eighteen inches on the outside of the rails and the remaining cost shall be paid by the City of Paris out of the general funds, and in addition thereto the City of Paris shall pay the entire cost of the improvement of the inter-sections with other public ways, including one-half of the width of the street being improved opposite other streets or alleys, which run into but do not cross the street so being improved, and that portion of any street abutting on the property belonging to the City of Paris, who shall pay the costs of all improvements where the abutting owner is a public school, cemetery, county, State or United States. The costs of the abutting property owners shall be apportioned and assessed upon the lots or parcels of real estate abutting feet and a tax shall be levied upon such lots or parcels of real estate for the payment of the costs assessed thereon, which tax shall be due and payable at the City Treasurer's Office upon the completion of the work and acceptance thereof by the Board of Council, provided, however, that the portion assessed against the abutting property may be paid on the ten-year payment plan as provided by law.

4. Any such tax which is not paid within thirty days after the same becomes due and payable, unless the property owners shall have exercised their option to pay for the same on the ten-year payment plan as above provided, shall have added thereto a penalty of ten per cent on the amount of the tax, and there shall be a lien upon such lots or parcels of real estate for the part of the costs of said improvements so assessed thereon and the same shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from time of assessment until paid.

5. This ordinance shall have two readings before the Board of Council and ten days shall intervene between the first and second reading. Upon the final adoption of this ordinance the Improvement Committee is directed to advertise for bids for two consecutive weeks in THE BOURBON NEWS and Kentuckian-Citizen, newspapers published in Bourbon County, Kentucky, the official publications of the City of Paris, for the construction of said streets out of each of the materials as herein provided, and shall let the bid to the lowest and best bidder on the material adopted for the construction of the said street. Said Committee shall require a cash deposit or certified check from each bidder for an amount equal to ten per cent of the total aggregate of his bid to insure compliance with said bid. In the event the successful bidder fails to enter into a contract with the City of Paris for the performance of said work and give good and sufficient bond conditioned for the faithful performance of his contract within ten days after the award is made, then in that event the sum so deposited shall be forfeited to the City of Paris as liquidated damages for such failure to enter into such contract and execute such bond. The deposits made by unsuccessful bidders shall be returned to such unsuccessful bidders immediately after the award is made.

Hail Destroys Millions of Dollars of Tobacco

The loss of tobacco by hail in this and other tobacco states within the last five years has run up into millions of dollars with only a small part covered by insurance.

Yet, the amount of insurance received by growers who had the foresight thus to protect themselves against such loss, was enormous and should make every grower not only feel the necessity of insuring his tobacco crop against hail storms loss but to do that very thing and do it at once.

What Dr. Halley Says: Dr. Samuel H. Halley, of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, upon congratulating an insurance company on lowering its rates on tobacco hail insurance, said:

"Within the period that I have had hail insurance I have had four severe losses. The money I received exceeded considerably what I paid in, to say nothing of my peace of mind that I was fully protected in case of a storm. I have always advocated carrying hail insurance on tobacco without which every grower takes a chance to lose all. With it he can, in safety, go into the business of producing a crop which requires, as does tobacco, so much labor, time and money."

Now that the Burley Growers have gone into an organization to handle their business in a modern economic business-like way, I see no reason why all growers can not take out insurance on the reduced rates the companies are now quoting."

Look up the insurance agent in your section now, and let him protect you against the loss of your tobacco. Policies effective July 10th, noon.
